D.C. Firm Drops Lie Detector Use, Finds It Lacking in Solving Woes

thad to conclude that "there chines came when are better, more permanent found "trouble spots" in cer-

A Washington drug store and lasting ways to induce tain new stores.

A Washington drug store and lasting ways to induce tain new stores.

Chain that began a lie detector test program last year for honesty from employes.

Chain that began a lie detector test program last year for honesty from employes.

Chain that began a lie detector employes of very rapid expansion in the last fhree years—with 40 plants of the lie detector was given up the controver gram of the lie detector was and that he discovered that fully with so many new employes.

Milton Elsburg president of Drug Pair Community getting to employes that are Drug Pair Community getting to employes that are other ways of operates 81 stores in this longer range effect. He said disappeared blsberg recalled detector program.

Drug Fair quit using the fig disappeared blsberg recalled together and asked if they bear the cond that the employes were called together and asked if they bear the cond that are program.

But he said that after Drug Fau's president said would submit to the lie tests nearly a year of seeking set the original decision to try All did submit the money curity through the device, he out the interrogatory ma-was found and returned, and a potentially messy police situation was quietly averted. Second Try Fails.

A second similar situation ended with inconclusive re sults. The lie detector did not unmask the culprit. Elsberg declined to state exactly what questions were asked.

It is known for instance, that a chain that does bustness here asks such questions as: Are you a pervert? Have you ever stolen?

A second grocery chain was chastised by the National Labor Relations Board sev-eral years ago for asking the question: Do you ever intend to form a prion?

Elsberg said flatly that none of Drug Fair's questions took these forms. Rather, he asserted; "We made it clear from the start, and every employe knows it that we were not interested in private

As alternatives, Elsberg suggested that a more sanguine effect can be had from careful study of job applications and references, a more comprehensive employe education effort, and incen-tives for employes, such as profitsharing "All we want is a reasonable horesty," he